Maintaining stability in China's neighborhood is the key objective of peripheral diplomacy. We must encourage and participate in the process of regional economic integration, speed up the process of building up infrastructure and connectivity. We must build the Silk Road Economic Belt and the 21st Century Maritime Silk Road, creating a new regional economic order.

Xi Jinping, 2013

Key Message from Beijing

belt and road – network strategy to be a great power

China to be the broker for developing countries

increase its social capital and influence

China's is an embedded rise, not a revisionist power

“[N]o matter how developed [China] may become and how much the international landscape may change, China will remain a reliable friend and sincere partner of the developing countries.”

Xi Jinping, April 22, 2015

Obama – China as a mobilization tool

"It makes no sense for China to have better rail systems than us, and Singapore having better airports than us. And we just learned that China now has the fastest supercomputer on Earth --- that used to be us."

Obama, Nov. 3, 2010

Donald Trump - Builder

“America is suffering from a massive infrastructure deficit— crumbling and dilapidated roads, bridges, airports, and tunnels.... We need members of both parties—partnering with industry and workers—to join together to repair, rebuild and renew the infrastructure of the United States.”

March 29, 2017
